Spring Start-Up

It's hard to believe that sunny weather is just around the corner! April is a great time to have us start-up and test your irrigation system. Simply turning on your sprinklers when it gets hot out can put your landscape and irrigation system at risk. Unforeseen winter damage, inconsistent coverage, and possible broken/clogged heads can lead to headaches, wasted water and unhappy plants. Our trained irrigation technicians will run through your entire system looking for and repairing problems. They will adjust all of your sprinkler heads and program your timer for optimal water use and plant health.

Backflow Testing

Most cities in the State of Oregon require that all irrigation backflow prevention devices be tested annually. Backflows protect domestic water systems from potential contamination. We can test and report your successful test to the proper local agency for you. If for some reason your backflow does not pass we can provide the repairs needed to get your system up to par.
